Why Evolver?

Technology Expertise

We are a technology company first. We have over one hundred technologists on staff spanning the IT spectrum including: infrastructure and application development, data management, cybersecurity, end-user support, and the EDRM lifecycle. Evolver proves its value to our clients every day, managing day-to-day network and security operations, skillfully integrating and supporting new technologies, and supporting hundreds of attorneys on hosted eDiscovery projects, large and small.

Innovative and Flexible Solutions

Evolver provides custom solutions for challenging and complex requirements. From flexible managed services to a unique software tool for redacting all native file types to custom cybersecurity solutions and information governance programs, Evolver can create the right solution for you. Bring us your toughest questions and we will give you answers.

Support Team

Your Evolver team is committed to delivering cost-effective, high value solutions. We have a unique combination of legal, technology, and data management experts here to work with you hand-in-hand through every phase of your project. Additionally, our dedicated team ensures your systems are always available, communications are open, and responses to your questions are always prompt.
